Blowin' Like The Wind

John 3:8

A Parody of "Blowin' In The Wind" originally recorded by Bob Dylan

How many aisles must a man walk down
Before he will understand?
Yes 'n' how many pleas must be of no avail
Before he keeps God's command?
Yes 'n' how times must the gospel advise
Before it's no longer at hand?
The answer, my friend, is blowin' like the wind,
The answer is blowin' like the wind.

How many people will fall from their faith
Before we stop asking why?
Yes 'n' how many years will some people exist
Before they see God's supply?
How many times will a man turn away?
And pretend that God he can defy
The answer, my friend, is blowin' like the wind,
The answer is blowin' like the wind.

How many fears must a one man resist
Before God's peace he can see?
How many sneers must a proud man persist
Before he drops to his knee?
How many tears must a humble man mist
Before God's grace sets him free
The answer, my friend, is blowin' like the wind,
The answer is blowin' like the wind.
